A New Year's Message

From The Legion President

LET'S STOP THIS PETTY BICKERING!

This is the time of year when we look back on our sins and omissions of the past and make resolutions to try and do better in the future.

While we all have our own ideas about what resolutions are important, I believe there is one that every member should determine to keep in 1970. It concerns the English-French language problem which has been the subject of bitter arguments in many parts of Canada.

It is understandable that some of us, living in an area where little French is spoken, are apt to be annoyed when we receive federal documents and forms in French as well as English.

Some raise a great hue and cry when they hear, upon occasion, a voice answer in English after French on a federal government telephone. Others see something insidious about the French inscription placed over the English inscription on a poppy wreath at our national memorial.

Let's resolve to stop this petty bickering. It is doing great harm and, as long as it continues, it poses a serious threat to the continuation of Canada as a nation.

As an individual and as your president I feel that we should do everything we can to conserve and protect national unity. This means putting aside personal prejudices which are adding fuel to the flames of controversy and providing ammunition for those divisive forces determined to effect the break-away of one province to form a separate state.

The Legion includes in its membership several thousand French-speaking Canadians who fought voluntarily for Canada in two World Wars. Many died and others suffered disabilities fighting alongside their English-speaking comrades. In action they were not concerned with protocol and who went first. They worked together as a team. They respected each other for what they were, rather than for the country in which they or their ancestors happened to be born.

The year 1970 could be a crucial one over this question of bilingualism. The future of Canada as a nation is at stake with the onus of responsibility on English-speaking Canadians to accept the fact that French-speaking Canadians are entitled to equal status.

I feel that the Legion must provide leadership on problems which affect our national progress and unity. Therefore I hope all Legion members will make a New Year's resolution to adopt a more tolerant attitude towards the needs of French-speaking Canadians and take the broader view of a national policy upon which the unity of Canada depends.

DOLLARS AND GOOD SENSE

by William J. Martin

Dear Mr. Martin:

As an elementary school teacher (and a parent) I've often wondered what's the best age to start teaching a child the value of money. Also, what's the best way to go about it? Do you have any suggestions?

Mrs. A.K.

Many parents still believe the most effective method is to have the child earn the money. They contend that by working for a dollar, the child will appreciate the value of that dollar more.

Other parents provide an allowance to the child to buy the items (movies, candy, etc.) during the week which he or she desires.

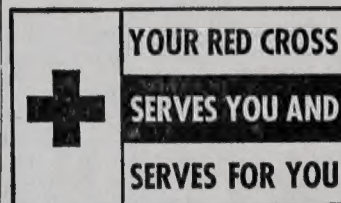

The contention here, of course, is that the child will spend his money wisely and thereby learn the value of the amount allowed him. In this particular method, parents must exercise rather rigid controls over the child who runs out of money before the end of the week. If you advance that child next week's allowance for whatever "important" reason they give, you must be firm the following week when allowance time comes up. Incidentally, one effective method is to supplement the child's weekly allowance with "extra money" he can earn by performing certain household chores.

Both of these methods are good and will work if the parents show an interest in the child and his "income." I'm not so sure, however, that the "earning only" method doesn't distort the value of money for the youngster by placing too much emphasis on it. But, whatever method you employ, don't attempt to control the child's spending. Rather, try to guide him towards using his money wisely. In other words, act as an advisor.

So far as age is concerned, I don't think there is any fixed rule. It depends, for the most part, on the child. Some parents feel that 5 or 6 is a good age to start teaching a child the economic facts of life. I'm not so sure I agree that a five-year old can distinguish the value between a dollar and a penny. On the other hand, I certainly don't think it's too early to remind five-year olds that a particular toy costs too much money.

In the long run I think a child is going to learn more about the value of money from his parents than from any particular method. If you have a sensible, sane attitude about money and spending — and instill this confidence in your child — the chances are that he will also become a good money manager.

STRONG TALK

Today we have an association to represent almost every phase of life possible — included is the Canadian Wolf Control association. This association is a group of conservationists and hunters consisting of several thousand members in Canada and US, dedicated to improving wild game herds by reducing predators and improving game environment.

The following is information which was given to me from a member of this association — it startles me to say the least. I would like to pass this information on, since we live in a good hunting area.

The Association says, "There appears to be a trend in many governments now to phase out hunting completely. One government biologist recently was quoted in a Toronto daily paper as saying, "we intend to eliminate hunting completely and offer the people a total outdoor experience".

The deer population has completely vanished from much of Ontario's best deer range, and the rest is in serious danger, but still the Department of Lands and Forests keep propagating wolves and other predators instead of game, even though the Game Act says: The purpose of this Act is to provide for the management, perpetuation and rehabilitation of wildlife in Ontario.

We have documents from former Lands and forest employees who worked on projects raising and releasing wolves, in the name of research.

In communication with members of all three major political parties familiar with wildlife in Ontario, we find they are unanimous in agreement with us.

Some government biologists and M.P.'s expect the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests to try to eliminate hunting completely south of No. 17 highway within three years, and to have complete control of all privately owned firearms within the next few years.

If we are to rebuild of game herds and continue to have the privilege of owning and using firearms, it is of utmost importance that you write today to Rt. Hon. John Robarts, Queens Park, Toronto, and request the immediate change of policy and personnel responsible for the present situation, also request a reply."

The information given to me has a P.S. at the bottom which says, "If you wish to support the CWCA, our membership is one dollar per year; write to Harvey Lawrence, Callander, Ontario."

Personally I don't know the deer and wolf situation, and it is very doubtful whether or not many people do. However I think it is up to the government (The Department of Lands and Forests) to take a complete survey of this very important situation, and give a good detailed report to the press and Associations, such as mentioned above. This might clear the air, and stop the stone throwing. It would also be just as important to come up with the answers to keep our deer ranges full of deer.

HALIBURTON, KAWARTHA, PINE RIDGE DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT REPORT FOR DEC.

Communicable Disease — of 88 cases reported during the month, 35 were mumps and 32 chickenpox. The balance were comprised of german measles, infectious hepatitis, salmonellosis and scarlet fever.

Eight rabid animals were reported in December — five of these in Victoria, one in Durham and two in Northumberland. There was one horse, two bovine, two foxes and three skunks. Vaccine for preventive treatment of four persons was dispensed to the family physicians.

Tuberculosis — Only 2 chest clinics were held this month, at Bowmanville and Port Hope; at these 42 persons received a chest X-ray. There are 398 on the case register for Northumberland and Durham Counties at the end of the year 1969.

There were 263 tuberculin (Heaf) tests given this month; five of these were positive, indicating contact with tuberculosis at some time.

Immunization — Thirty clinics were held this month; at these 108 children received primary small pox vaccination and 602 had a revaccination; 585 had a reinforcing dose of Triad which gives protection against diphtheria, tetanus and poliomyelitis.

Public Health Nursing — The bigger part of the immunization programme for the year has been completed in the schools by the end of December. This includes the measles vaccine given to school beginners, and reinforcing doses of diphtheria, tetanus and poliomyelitis, and revaccinations in grades five and six. The remaining part of the immunization programme, chiefly in the secondary schools, will be done in this month.

Heaf testing has been partly completed in Northumberland, and will be continued in Durham and Haliburton Counties in the spring. The Provincial Department of Tuberculosis Control in Lindsay does the tuberculin testing in the schools in Lindsay and Victoria County.

Nursing care in the home is now being undertaken in Haliburton County. The Victorian Order of Nurses does this programme in Lindsay and Victoria County.

Nursing Homes — Seventeen inspections of Nursing Homes in relation to meeting the requirements of the Nursing Home Act were carried out during the month. Nursing Homes that have complied with all the requirements are recommended for a licence, while the others which have not completed the requirements are given provisional licence for a further period of six months. It is understood that all nursing homes must complete their requirements within the next six months, as a further provisional licence will not be issued.

There are 14 nursing homes with 489 beds and 18 Residential Homes for Special Care patients in the District Health Unit area.

General Remarks — A very successful Christmas party was held at the Cobourg Golf and Country Club early in December. Members of staff and board of the Health Unit were present from all four Counties.

COLLEGE OFFERS COURSE FOR SNOWMOBILE OWNERS

A six-week course for snowmobile owners, covering basic mechanical trouble-shooting, driving techniques, storage procedures and first aid will be offered through the continuing education division of Sir Sandford Fleming College on Mondays, beginning January 19.

Division Director Fred Anderson said while the course will stress preventive maintenance and show owners how to conduct preliminary corrective checks for engine failure, it is not designed to make every snowmobile owner an expert mechanic.

"The information could get owners out of a tight spot, and will help avoid costly repairs resulting from poor maintenance but we will expect graduates to leave major repairs to experts," he said.

Classes will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. in the well-equipped marine mechanics and small engine repair shop at Peterborough's new retraining center, which operates as a division of the College.

The first evening will include a brief review of engine theory and operating principles. Subsequent classes will deal specifically with carburetion and fuel systems, ignition alignment, bearing lubrication, drive belts and chains, ski alignment, and storage checks.

A local racing team member will discuss driving techniques and machine handling characteristics. Highway legislation also will be covered, and the final evening will be devoted to first aid.

Safe working and driving practices will be stressed throughout the program.

SOME HISTORY OF MINDEN

I have before me a copy of two Crown Grant Sales, evidently bought in two sections. Possibly my grandfather, Thomas Hobden wasn't able to pay for both lots at the same time.

The Deeds are for Lots 10 and 11, Con. 7 Minden Township. Lot No. 10 is 99 acres for the sum of $20.00 dated June 1871. The other deed for Lot No. 11 Con. 7 is for 84 acres for a price of $58.00, dated May 1874.

Deeded to Thomas Hobden of Minden Township, Peterborough County.

These deeds were possibly one of the larger deeds in that area. Thomas Hobden and his wife came to Canada from Brighton, England and settled in Coburg in 1857. They then moved to Minden in 1862 and located and cleared the above mentioned land. Thomas Hobden and his wife were blessed with 13 children, one buried in England, and two at Coburg. Two or Three were born in Coburg and six or seven at Horse Shoe Lake, not Elsie Lake as it is now named in later maps. The deeds state clearly this property is on the shore of Horse Shoe Lake.

It also reads: Savings and excepting and reserving onto us, our heirs and successors. The free uses, passage and enjoyment of in over and upon all navigable waters that shall or may be here after found on or under or be flowing through or upon any part of the said parcel or tract of land hereby granted as aforesaid.

Given under the great seal of our Province of Ontario: Witness: The Hon. William Pearce Hurland, companion of the most Honourable Order of the Bath and Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Ontario.

Thomas Hobden sold this property to his son Jim Hobden when he was married around 1888 or 1889, then bought a piece of ground about 10 or 12 acres from Michael Brown. Mr. Brown then moved to Minden and became Post Master in 1904. My father Joseph Pritchard bought the farm from Jim Hobden and Mr. Hobden moved to Beamsville.

Around 1909 my brother Earl bought these lots 10 and 11 from my father then he and my mother moved to this place, previously owned by my grandfather Hobden. My father died there, I believe in 1922. In 1916, I bought this old farm from my brother Earl.

I hope your readers, Mr. Editor will find this little piece of Haliburton County History of some interest.

ABOUT THE TOWN

With Jeanne Sears

A note that Scott Young of the Toronto Telegram had an article in last Saturdays paper. We were pleased to see the suggestions made at the hearing in our recent snowmobile accident were listed. We wonder if as was stated no one was to blame and all were to blame. Perhaps these snowmachines should be banned from main roads but they are certainly useful in our county for trapping and fishing.

Mrs. C. House and Mrs. J. Loughheed have been visiting their father Lawrence Pritchard and especially their mother who is seriously ill in Haliburton Hospital.

The hardest lesson we learn in life (if we ever do learn it) is simply to leave other people alone, to stop bugging them and trying to change them. The only person in this life you can change — and it's hard work at that — is yourself.

Richard J. Needham
Globe and Mail

A house warming party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Coneybeare. They recently moved into the home previously owned by Archie Stouffer. Some 75 people attended this party, with best wishes to the Coneybeare's in their new home.

Hint of the week — When cleaning your silver, a cork dipped in the paste never scratches and if cut to a point will get into all the creases.

Patients at the local hospital on Tuesday included Bruce Mason, Hugh Kernohan Sr. Gordon Sawyer, Mrs. Lillian Miller and Mrs. Stewart.

We notice the Carnival Queen Doll on display. This is dressed yearly by Esther Shaver and looks very grand with her fall of blonde hair and her wine cape. The proceeds from the sale of tickets on this doll are used to beautify our village. Several strings of coloured lights on Main Street were one of these projects. The village certainly appreciates this added feature of the winter Carnival.

We heard on the Lindsay Radio that there are no visitors allowed at Ross Memorial Hospital, with the flu going the rounds.

Mrs. Lyman Cox has been a patient in Toronto General Hospital for tests. Hope her stay is a short one.

Sincere sympathy of the village to the La Hays on the death of a brother-in-law, Don McKenzie of Toronto.

A smile is something nice to see
It doesn't cost a cent
A smile is something all your own
It never can be lent.
A smile is welcome anywhere
It does away with frowns
A smile is good for everyone
To ease the ups and downs. Anonymous

Still not much snow, but really cold, excellent for outdoor sports. Carnival next weekend so wear a happy smile. Cheerio until next week.

The search for peace and truth didn't begin with the Beatles' sojourn in India with a guru. In 1791 Mozart's own version of a search for happiness was produced in Vienna as Die Zauberfloete, The Magic Flute. The story tells how a prince, with the aid of a magic flute and a bird-catcher, finds his love and survives all the hardships on the path to higher wisdom. The Magic Flute is heard on the Metropolitan Opera broadcast January 17 starring Nicolai Gedda, Teresa Zylis-Gara, Licia Popp, Jerome Hines and Hermann Prey.

The husband and wife pop duo, Sonny and Cher, take center stage as they present a show from Vancouver's Cave Theatre Restaurant On Stage January 17. Also from The Cave is an hour's entertainment with the Latin-inspired rock musician, Trini Lopez, on CBC Showcase January 18.

Twilight, by East German playwright Rolf Schneider, won an award in West Germany three weeks ago as the best radio script produced in West Germany that year. On Sunday, January 18, Studio 70 presents this story of a Jewish man hidden by a German family during the Second World War — an arrangement that continues long after the War is over.

C. S. Forrester's stalwart Hornblower story, Hornblower and the Hotspur, is adapted by Roy Brinson for the Theatre 10:30 series, January 19 to 23, under the title Commander Hornblower, Royal Navy. Brinson is the narrator as Hornblower's faithful subordinate, Lieutenant Bush. Robert Clothier plays Hornblower.

That touchy subject, pornography, comes up for review on pornography? Why are there obscenity laws? On whose taste are they based? Why buys, reads, uses pornography? Discussing the subject are sociologist Ned Polsky, police department morality officer John Wilson, psychiatrist Sol Gordon and bookstore owner Gordon McAuslane.

FOURSOME

Just because CBC radio personalities are heard rather than seen doesn't mean they're unattractive. Take the foursome pictured here for example. The radiant smile of Juliette is already known to many; she's a regular on the Toronto edition on After Noon. The young man next to her is John Kastner, the bright new host of the Saturday teen show, Action Set. Behind him is pert and petite Helen Hutchinson, a welcome addition to the weekday series Matinee. Beside her is Clyde Gilmour of the longtime program favorite just turned 13, Gilmour's Albums. A talented group — and good looking too!
